MY SCHOOL ENTERPRISE

social entrepreneurship projects – competition organised by Liceul Teoretic “Ovidius”

MOTIVATION

Our motivation is to help students become more independent and confident as they transition into adulthood. As students leave high school and move on to college, the workforce, or other post-secondary pursuits, they will need to navigate a range of new experiences and challenges, from managing finances and building relationships to finding and keeping a job.

We taught the students about leadership and design thinking, two skills that are essential in life, whatever their job will be.

Overall, our project, that focuses on teaching essential skills for teenagers, can not only help students succeed academically, but also prepare them for the challenges and opportunities that lie ahead in the years to come.

CONCEPT PRESENTATION

A few months ago, me and my friend went to an event in Bucharest at BISM – Bucharest International School of Management. There we had the opportunity to meet Radu Atanasiu, a speaker specialized in critical thinking. He motivated and inspired us to do something similar in our highschool, and bring valuable information through our project.

So, we thought about inviting speakers specialized in leadership and design thinking to come and talk about these topics. And we invited Oana Yucel – international coach and trainer in the area of leadership, communication and personal development, and Alexandru Strujac – UI/UX designer at ASSIST Software.

ACTIVITIES – promotion

Firstly, we created a poster for our first workshop (leadership) and we spread the word around the highschool by sticking them to walls and sharing them to each class.

Secondly, we wrote a message and shared it on every whatsapp class group.

Then for the second workshop, we invited the students that already participated in the first one.

CALENDAR OF EVENTS / ACTIVITIES

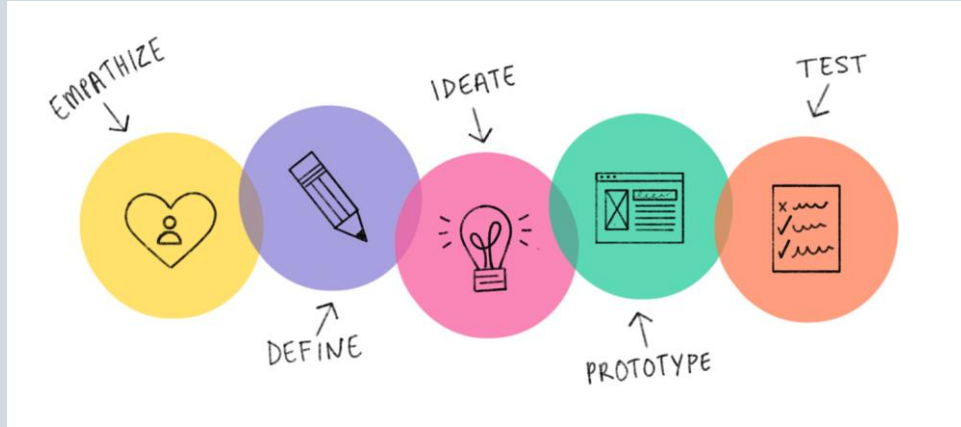

The start date was 8th of February, when we organized the first workshop about Leadership.

Oana came up with different activities for the students such as:

- a personality test, in which you can see if you are a magnetic, balanced, concentrated or a leading person (you can see this activity by clicking this link:

- and a word map starting from the word leadership

The second workshop about design thinking was held on the 15th of February.

Alex, a web designer, came to teach us the steps of design thinking dividing it in 5 simple steps:

He taught us how to implement these principles in important life decisions or even in the day-to-day life.

ACTIVITIES – beneficiaries

- In the first workshop there were 11 participants, and in the second one only 8, because 3 of them had to learn for a test 😊.
- Thanks to the posters and the message, the project has reached 11 beneficiaries

Feedback

After the workshops, we sent a feedback form to the students that participated, because we wanted to see if our activities helped them in some way and if they found it useful. These are the results:

Also here is some text feedback from 3 of the students that participated:

- Cele 2 ediții au fost foarte bine realizate. Mi-a plăcut cu câtă pasiune ne-au fost prezentate informațiile! - ȚOANȚĂ CĂȚĂLINA
- A fost o experiență foarte interesantă care cu siguranță mă va ajuta pe termen lung. Am aflat lucruri ce îmi vor rămâne permanent tiparite în memorie pentru tot restul vieții. – MATEI ANDREEA
- Au fost doua ediții atractive cu informații noi si importante după părerea mea, mai vreau genul asta de activități. – ERMILOV DAVID
